The crowd opens with Aunt Polly crossing the fence in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom runs out dramatically, "Look behind you!" and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects carefully on Tom's mischief and how she lets him get away with his work.

Tom crosses fence at supper time. During supper, Aunt Polly announces that she will send Tom to school. Tom's half brother, Sid, tries to dissuade her.

Tom goes out of the house following the streets of St. Petersburg. Tom and the new school children chase the swallows all the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his stained clothes and decides to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Tom passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a "white alley," a kind of excuse. Tom almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his labor.

But I loved the Last Hour of Gann. It's the kind of epic nobody's writing anymore outside of Fantasy. I love that. Love it to death. I read it in what, 2-3 days? What I really loved is the way Amber was strong and sometimes unlikeable, and could rescue herself thank you. I loved the way Smith uses the underdog trope.
